Lucy Rose Waldeisen was born in February 2006 in Belgrade, Montana to Lars and Hillary. Over the course of her three years she has shown family and friends her true spunky spirit. She smiles, she laughs and she loves. She loves her new baby sister, Lily born in January 2009, her cherished plastic pink pig and her freedom to run, explore, read and cause "mischief." She finds humor in daily life with a laugh that is contagious and a smile that will melt your heart. At Lucy's 3 year check-up, a lump was found in her abdomen. Lucy was sent to Salt Lake City Children's Hospital where she was diagnosed with Neuroblastoma (a rare form of cancer). The tumor has been removed, but the cancer is high risk. Treatment including chemo, stem cell transplant, and radiation will start the beginning of April and is expected to last at least six to eight months.
